In two-dimensional boundary conformal field theory (BCFT), there is a quantity “g” which characterizes the number of boundary degrees of freedom and which decreases monotonically along renormalization group flows. This result is known as the “g-theorem.” In this talk I will discuss a higher-dimensional version of the g-theorem for three-dimensional BCFT as well as higher-dimensional CFTs with a string defect.